

Meet V-MODA: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=IrJmlc0dokc>

The camera is focused on black headphones resting on a producer table, as a hand that is out of focus in the background adjusts a vertical sliding fader.

The camera quickly cuts between a DJ picking up folded headphones from a DJ controller as well as a mic stand. Then cuts back to unfolding the headphones above the DJ controller and placing them over the ears.

The camera then switches to a club atmosphere behind the DJ playing with flashing lights and over-ear headphones on, then into a gamer's bedroom with over-ear headphones, an attached microphone, and a wired controller in their hands.

The camera then switches to a lady with short hair and white in-ear headphone walking from right to left of the screen in front of a light blue background.

We move to a contemporary apartment, where a man in a casual button shirt has wired black over-ear headphones plugged into his phone and nods along to the music while sitting on his couch.

The camera then moves to the back of a music producer's office, where we see a producer with black over-ear headphones in front of a large screen, big speakers, and a full keyboard.

The camera cuts to a zoomed-in woman wearing rose gold over-ear headphone dancing and nodding, then to a zoomed-in shot of a man with black over-ear headphones and a custom logo on his shield in light grey.

The Red V-MODA logo appears over a black screen.